The Links Golf Club

About

The Links is a Championship Golf Course designed by Rodney Wright and Peter Allis. Par 72 with 5942m, the 18th hole is the signature hole along turquoise waters. Like its twin the Legend, the Links offers a Golf Academy by professional and qualified instructors.

The natural setting of the course, over rolling links style terrain, is complemented by excellent fairways and firm greens. A special feature is the volcanic rock, piled high to form pyramid like structures that dot the course.

Plenty of water makes for many challenges and afternoon sea-breezes can make a difference of 2 or 3 clubs to your selection. The longest put is located at hole No. 10 with a distance of 566 yd.

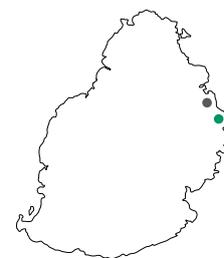

The Links has wide open spaces and rolling undulating terrain. You find water hazards in 6 holes, and some of these are very tough.

The clubhouse sits above the course and faces the mountains and setting sun but also gives panoramic views to the ocean. The club house restaurant is opened daily for lunch.

The club house restaurant is opened daily for lunch and offers a selection of sandwiches and salads.
