

Six Senses Duxton, Singapore

Echoes of 19th century elegance reimagined in the historic heart of Singapore

Six Senses Duxton is perfectly situated in Tanjong Pagar, the island city-state's central district and the eclectic heart of Chinatown where business, socializing, dining and nightlife take center stage. Six Senses Duxton unites a row of heritage shophouses that have been sustainably restored under the gifted hand of acclaimed British designer, Anouska Hempel. The original design of this Urban Redevelopment Authority Architectural Heritage Awarded building features a diverse mix of Chinese, Malay and European elements. Guests are in for an eccentric, elegant surprise as they enter the hotel which includes large golden fans and strong hues of black, gold and yellow, layered with Oriental screens and calligraphy wallpaper from Anouska's personal collection.

ACCOMMODATION

In harmony with rich Asian history, yet still presenting her luminary vision, Anouska has given each of the 49 guestrooms and suites a unique individuality so that no two are exactly the same.

DINING

Yellow Pot Restaurant

Both the restaurant and adjoining bar are clad in the striking palette of black, gold and yellow that acclaimed British designer Anouska Hempel has accorded to the rest of the hotel. Large golden fans and wallpaper featuring 18th century English indentures from Anouska's personal collection adorn the dining and drinking spaces, that are cleverly carved out by modern Chinese screens of black lacquered wood and glass — including two semi-private dining enclaves. As its name suggests, the 50-seat restaurant is cheekily embellished with yellow pots of various sizes and configurations.

Yellow Pot Bar

Yellow Pot's diverse bar menu showcases top-shelf spirits, premium wines, local craft beers, artisanal Chinese teas and cocktails expertly injected with nostalgic Eastern influences — well suited to city dwellers looking for an urban escape. Inspired by the flower of Kaifeng city, the bar's signature cocktail Escape to Kaifeng infuses house-made chrysanthemum cordial with Tanqueray London dry gin for a delicately floral aperitif.

EXPERIENCES

Six Senses Duxton provides the perfect base from which to become acquainted with Singapore's inspiring sites. Retail boutiques and exceptional restaurants, bars and acclaimed street food are just steps from this enchanting oasis.

Enjoy a storied insight into the culture-rich Chinatown or a historical journey at the National Museum of Singapore, Asian Civilisations Museum, Peranakan Museum, and Singapore Art Museum. Stroll around Chinatown and be immersed in the captivating sights and sounds of this vibrant neighborhood; be inspired by the Buddha Tooth Relic Temple and its museum. With the highest concentration of Michelin-starred restaurants in the country, Tanjong Pagar, one of the most recognized is the world-famous chicken rice at nearby Maxwell Food Centre.
